Out Of Africa Book First
Out of Africa is a memoir by the Danish author Karen Blixen. The book, first published in 1937, recounts events of the seventeen years when Blixen made her home in Kenya, then called British East Africa. The book is a lyric meditation on Blixen's life on her coffee plantation, as well as a tribute to some of the people who touched her life there. It provides a vivid snapshot of African colonial life in the last decades of the British Empire. Blixen wrote the book in English and then rewrote it i

The absolutely superb film "Out of Africa" whetted my appetite, and I expected the book to follow closely the film's storyline. But it doesn't. It is the most remarkable description of a whiteperson's experiences with a huge number of African men, women and children before, during and after World War I- those she employed on her farm and many others, from destitute villagers to African chiefs.

Out of Africa tells the story of a farm that the narrator once had in Africa. The farm is located at the foot of the Ngong hills outside of Nairobi, in what is now Kenya. It sits at an altitude of six thousand feet. The farm grows coffee, although only part of its six thousand acres is used for agriculture. The remaining parts of the land are forest and space for the natives to live on.
