Shades of Singapore: Sister Sarah Balfour's Memoirs of Judicial Caning in South Africa, Vol. I. In pre-war South Africa, Sarah Balfour, a nursing Sister, administered to young women and girls awaiting punishment in the court system.
This provocative memoir tells in great detail of Sister Sarah's job and "good fortune" of examining girls prior to their punishments -- often canings and strappings while tied naked to the whipping bench.

Shades of green: Banks take bigger steps toward greener finance amid climate change push. ... Chubby Jayaram Singh looks at how Singapore banks can ride on this wave of opportunity.

Today's "colonial" Singapore and Sister Sarah Balfour's prewar "colonial" South Africa seem a good match. In her most unusual and provocative memoir, the Nursing Sister tells in great detail of her experiences in judicial caning.

I really felt astonished by this little island, so close to Malaysia and Indonesia. As the neighboring countries seem to struggle against poverty, a relative under-development or corruption, Singapore is growing fast and succeeding. It is far more a dragon than it seems to be. There are high-rise buildings there and remote quarters with Indian, Chinese and Malay communities. There are also Westerns expats seeking money and glory. From the shopping malls to the exotic and tropical gardens, from one the most active ports in Asia to pristine bank headquarters, there is a common sense of being part of something that is growing and booming. It is a city throbbing with life, full of subjects, ideal for a photographer. This is the journey that I wanted to share with you through the photos in this album.

This volume explores the nature of charisma as it accounts for the success of leaders. Charisma is deconstructed and illustrated through the "case studies" of three influential leaders in Singapore. Cultural issues are discussed and leadership qualities in general are explored.

Are you a young person? Middle-aged? Old? It doesn't really matter. Each of us grows older every second. Most of us age without taking charge of our life course, without a plan for our ageing. This book offers some operating instructions for life, a guide to engaging passionately with age! Dealing with a plethora of subjects, such as health, happiness, loneliness, dementia, sex, gender, marriage, abuse, respect, wage, wealth, class, and care, the book touches on how ageing affects us as individuals and as a society. It explores a few of the mysteries and miracles of life, and some of its myths. It encourages us to cope creatively with the mundaneness of our continuing life. The author invites you to join her as she delves into these questions about life and ageing with curiosity and contemplation, and with a sense of awe and adventure.

This book details the findings of a large-scale survey on the values and lifestyles of 1500 Singapore residents in 2001. Semi-structured interviews with elderly and young adult Singaporeans were also conducted. This comprehensive study provides insights into Singaporeans' value orientations, personal values, aspirations, satisfaction with life and living in Singapore, media habits, leisure activities, Internet usage, how Singaporeans are similar to or differ from one another, etc.

A wryly whimsical culinary parody of E. L. James' Fifty Shades trilogy combines epicurean double entendres, 50 chicken recipes and the story of a young free-range chicken who finds herself at the mercy of a kinky and dominating chef, in a parody that includes such dishes as "Sticky (Chicken) Fingers" and "Bound Wings."

Provides information on attractions, accommodations, restaurants, shopping, and nightlife.

A wise man once said that "You have to have lived it to write about it." Author Kirk Stephan has lived it, having spent a year wandering about India, followed by several years exploring the pre-Colombian temples of Latin America and studying Mayan Hieroglyphics. In this novella, Kirk recounts his adventures navigating the islands of the Indian Ocean aboard his sloop Zephyr in the year 1965.
